Community Liaison Committee (CLC) Member Search Underway for the Highway 101 Twinning Project between Three Mile Plains and Falmouth

Windsor, Nova Scotia: A search is underway to find volunteer members for a committee that will provide local community input on twinning of Highway 101 from Three Mile Plains to Falmouth. The project is a joint undertaking by Nova Scotia Transportation and Infrastructure Renewal (NSTIR) and Nova Scotia Agriculture (NSA; the Project Team).

The project, which is currently in the planning and design stage, would complete a divided highway from Halifax to Exit 10 at Hortonville and replace the existing aboiteau originally built in 1968-70 with a new, climate change-ready structure.

The CLC will include 12 to 15 representatives from local government and several areas of local community interest, such as business, agriculture, environment and tourism. Meeting four to six times a year, the CLC will provide community perspective to the Project Team.

Beyond Attitude Consulting has been hired to form the CLC, and will also Chair and provide support to the Committee.

People from the area interested in joining the Committee can find out more at the CLC website: www.hwy101windsor.ca
